Opera Tickets Changed.

A gala performance was given to-night at the opera after a remarkable incident. It was discovered Saturday night that one ticket for the performance was missing. The entire issue was cancelled and new tickets of a different color were given out.

The change was considered imperative to guard against the possibility of the missing ticket's giving access to the opera house of a person who might throw a bomb. The American envoy and his party were present. The King and Queen were greeted with enthusiasm. It was a brilliant spectacle. The opera was "Lucia Di Lammermoor."

The churches of Madrid to-day celebrated masses of thanksgiving for the escape of the King and Queen.

To Exclude Them.

LONDON, June 3.—The desperate attempt on the lives of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria closely touches the people of Great Britain. The question of harboring anarchists has long been kept in the background. It is now expected that it will be presented to the government when Parliament reassembles after the Whit Sunday recess, and that an effort will be made to pass a law excluding anarchists from the country.

To Exterminate Anarchists.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CHICAGO, June 3.—Andrew D. White, ex-minister to Russia and ex-ambassador to Germany, who is in Chicago for a few days, in an interview suggested a course of action in the event of a run down bomb thrower. He believes the world must have co-operation if it is hoped to shake off the murderous irresponsible creatures who are becoming so common and who have killed many of the ablest men in the United States and Europe.

as shippers of coal and all other freights were on an absolute equality. All paid the full tariff rates without rebate.

"Mr. Cassatt made himself personally responsible for the absolute correctness of this statement. If there was any discrimination, it could be only in the distribution of empty coal cars and so far as he knew, no proper had been provided that the officers concerned had been guilty of such favoritism. The board would, however, also inquire carefully into these matters, and if there had been any wrongdoing, would take proper action, but it was not for the faithful men and officers to manufacture and mistaken public opinion. The board would also, no doubt, consider the general question of the propriety of the ownership by officers and employees of stocks in coal and other companies using the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's lines and make regulation in respect thereto. There is also a shortage of cars during periods of every year and in recent years this condition had been seen. It was the great question in the production of coal. Officers having to do with the distribution of empty cars ought not to own coal stocks, but to prohibit all officers and employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from so doing was not the business of the board. It was the business of the company to invest in the stock of companies located in the State of Pennsylvania and in a half dozen other States.

Defends Road.

"Though the testimony before the commission might disclose instances of individual misconduct, and though an effort, seemingly organized, had been made to place the management in the most unfavorable light, Mr. Cassatt asserted that the company's affairs were honestly conducted in its present position of its duty to the public. It had rendered an immense service to the country by the transportation business when in the early part of the year 1901, two years before the present Elkins act, it was noticed that no more rebates would be paid and that all shippers, great and small, would be placed upon a basis of perfect equality. The management had done other things that deserved the commendation of the public and the country. It had done away with the free-pass evil. But the press generally in its present attitude, to the railroad, was only falling in line with an anti-corporation public sentiment which had been created by some of the worst political parties, which were trying to outbid each other for popular support by attacking large vested interests and industries. If this process were pursued much longer it could only result in undermining confidence, in the nation and in the country, from which the whole country would suffer."

ST. VITUS' DANCE

A Child of Ten Years Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Children are doubtless punished many times at school for not keeping still or for dropping things, when the trouble is really cholera, or St. Vitus' dance, as it is popularly called.

Often the patient loses flesh and becomes pale and bloodless. A remedy that cures St. Vitus' dance, and cures it so thoroughly that no trace of the disease remains is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A recent cure is that of Georgia, the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. D. M. Ream, of Conemaugh, Pa. Mrs. Ream says:

"When Georgia started to school last year she had stomach trouble and afterward her mouth began to twitch. She would shake all over and could not be calmed. After a few months her mind became affected. She was the care of two doctors for almost four months. When she had been sick for about seven months we heard of a case like Georgia's that had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was in the latter part of the year that she commenced to take the pills and they made the greatest change in her. They not only cured every trace of the St. Vitus' dance, but helped her in every way. She never was very stout until after she took the pills, but now she has gained in weight. She goes to school every day and is well and happy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood to carry health and strength to every part of the body. They have cured severe cases of bloodlessness, indigestion, headache, nervousness, neuralgia, neuritis, nervousness, spinal weakness and the special ailments of girls and women whose blood supply becomes weak, scanty or irregular. They are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

STRUGGLE ON FOR CONTROL OF PARTY

Conservative Democrats Lined Up Against Radicals in Big Fight.

HEARST SCORES A POINT

Election of Griggs to Chairmanship of Committee Victory for New York Man.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—It is hardly possible to outline the struggle between conservatism and radicalism now in progress within both political parties. It is more noticeable in Washington than anywhere else in the country, and it is far more noticeable here now than it was two months ago. It is well known, because the fact is so clearly recognized, that the Republican party is as widely rent on the subject as the Democratic party is or ever has been. The radicalism of Mr. Roosevelt is manifested every day in some act or utterance. He is far ahead of the position the Republican party has heretofore occupied on every public question that were it not that the people who vote the Republican ticket without holding offices give indication of approval at every step his Republicanism would be openly questioned by the leaders of the party.

The many of the Democrats, if the Democrats of Congress represent the party sentiment, are conservative. But the sentiment is not unanimous and the struggle of the radicals of the party to secure control of the party is as bitter and as exciting as the memorable contest of 1888, when the free college men secured the organization.

Fight in Committee.

Just now the fight is in the Congressional Committee. The chairman of the committee is Judge Griggs, of Georgia. He was the foremost Southern supporter of Mr. Hearst for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1904. His election to the chairmanship of the Congressional Committee this year was recognized as a Hearst triumph, and towards the goal of Hearst's aspirations, the Democratic nomination in 1908.

Mr. Hearst is making a desperate struggle to control the committee. He has discovered that a majority of the committee, in spite of the fact that his personal friend and supporter is the chairman, is against him. Mr. Hearst has a very direct method of achieving and obtaining the thing he wants. He is going after the committee in the usual way.

The committee needs money. Mr. Hearst has plenty of it. He has contributed more liberally to Democratic campaigns than any other man. In 1902 he was almost the sole contributor. He is willing to contribute this year. But he will do so only on the condition that he is allowed to discuss the issues on which the campaign for the House is to be conducted.

The public ownership of public utilities is the cardinal plank in Mr. Hearst's platform. He wants the national fight this year conducted with that as the issue. He is under no illusion that he will make a very large contribution towards the payment of campaign expenses, provided public ownership be made the issue in the pending campaign. Mr. Hearst made that campaign for mayor of New York that issue last fall, and got a vote so large as to surprise the entire country. It is said he will almost certainly be nominated for the governorship by the Democrats this year, and it is presumed that he will make public ownership the main issue in that fight.

In Much Doubt.

The Congressional Committee is much divided as to whether the ownership of public utilities by the government should be one of the tenets of the party in the approaching fight, much less the paramount issue. It is a significant fact that the Republican Congressional Committee is at work ascertaining how every Democratic candidate for Congress stands on this question, how every Republican candidate stands, and the views of Democrats and Republicans likely to be nominated in districts where nominations are not yet made.

One of the best-known Democrats in Congress said to-day that he felt certain that the Republicans would not control the next House of Representatives. "Anti-Republicans will be in control," he said, "but I am not certain that we can call them Democrats."

There is the trouble. Democrats do not know yet whether to accept as Democratic the sentiments entertained by a large section of the public, by Democrats as well as by Republicans. In the spirit of the United States, the Democrats are divided among the voters, and it is the decision of the leaders of the party. Conditions unheard of and undreamed of a decade ago are now pressing for adjustment. Political parties are receiving demands for pronouncements upon questions which were not even dreamed of fifteen ten years ago. The radical of that period is now looked upon as a hide-bound, moss-back conservative. The radicalism of Mr. Roosevelt, had it been manifest ten years earlier, would have convinced him to a political grave. The radicalism of Mr. Bryan, which defeated him ten years ago, is most disappointing and unsatisfactory conservatism to a large class of voters.

The Man From Nebraska.

Meanwhile, every Democratic meeting of any importance held in the country this year has ignored Mr. Bryan. In Missouri, he was not even mentioned for the presidency in 1908. The politicians say every county in the State will take similar action. The Bryan resolutions which will be adopted at the State convention in Indiana next week have been passed.

All this is significant in one way and inconclusive in another way. The endorsements do not indicate that the Bryan is regarded as representative of the conservative sentiment of the country, and they have no effect on the resolutions because they have no effect on Mr. Bryan as a radical on most public questions. The conservatives endorse Mr. Bryan because they have observed the rapid movement towards ultra-radicalism, and they believe their candidate representative of a sentiment which is becoming conservative.

But the actions of Democratic conventions thus far this year do indicate one thing most clearly. No other candidate for the nomination by the Democrats stands forth so prominently as the man from Nebraska.

Robert B. Gorsuch.

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, June 3.—Robert B. Gorsuch, the noted American engineer, and formerly representative here of the late Collis P. Huntington, was buried to-day in the United States National Cemetery, the funeral being very largely attended. His death resulted from paralysis of the brain. He was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y.

RICHEST GIRL IN WORLD TO WED

YOUNG BOY KILLED BY A FREIGHT CAR

Probably Knocked Off Rear End of Box Car By Coal Chute.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., June 3.—Oscar Harvell, sixteen years old, was instantly killed in the yard of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company last evening by falling under a moving freight car. It is understood that the boy was knocked off the rear end of a box car by a coal chute near the track, while swinging out from the car as it passed the chute. The boy came to his death by falling under a moving freight car, and was very badly mangled. No one saw the boy fall.

An inquest by Justice C. G. Pleasant at the J. T. Morris undertaking rooms this morning resulted in a verdict that the boy came to his death by falling under a moving freight car, and was very badly mangled. No one saw the boy fall.

MATE PARALYZED.

Victim Was Drinking Coffee at Sea When Attack Came.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., June 3.—While drinking a cup of coffee aboard the schooner Margaret Haskell at sea last Thursday, the mate of the vessel was stricken with paralysis, apparently slightly at first, but by the following day the entire right side had become paralyzed to the disease and its victim was speechless. The Haskell was bound from Boston to Norfolk. Captain Hart, of the vessel, upon arriving here to-day, sent his mate to St. Vincent's Hospital. The afflicted man has been known by his name and he was unable to tell it.

FOR A HIGH SCHOOL.

Active Movement Among the People of Keysville.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

KEYSVILLE, VA., June 3.—An enthusiastic movement among the citizens of Keysville was held Friday at the public school-house with County Superintendent C. C. Bass presiding. A very lively discussion of the subject of school improvement occurred. Last session this school had a patronage of seventy-seven pupils, and there is every reason to expect a larger attendance next session if the proposed improvements are made.

The patrons desire, and intend, to have increased lower-grade facilities, and the addition of a high school in connection with the lower grades. This is the great and crying need of this community. A committee was appointed to provide for the meeting of the necessary requirements for a high school.

Woman Thief, Female Bandit and Girl Burglar Caught

Operation to Recover Diamond Swallowed by Girl Who Stole Jewel.

Highwayman.

OMAHA, June 3.—One of the best-known surgeons of Omaha, Dr. W. O. Henry, will perform an operation on Mae Thomas for the removal of the $500 diamond which the young woman stole, and then swallowed two weeks ago, and which was located by the x-ray.

"Miss Thomas will be none the worse for her experience under the knife," said Dr. Henry.

"Yes, I'll undergo an operation," said Miss Thomas. "I'll do anything to be released from this miserable jail."

PITTSBURG, June 3.—For two weeks a female bandit has been terrorizing farmers who sell their products at the Allegheny market house. The woman has been secreting herself in undergrowth along the Evergreen road, and when farmers have approached alone the woman would appear in the roadway holding two revolvers, and command them to throw up their hands.

Several farmers reported that she had obtained considerable sums of money from them until yesterday.

FRAULEIN KRUPP TO WED DIPLOMAT

Owner of Steel Works at Essen Engaged to Gustav von Bohnen und Holbach.

INHERITED GREAT WEALTH

On Coming of Age, in 1904, Prussian Girl Assumed Management of Industrial City.

ESSEN, PRUSSIA, June 3.—The engagement is announced of Fraulein Bertha Krupp, owner of the Krupp works, to Gustav von Bohnen und Holbach, secretary of the Prussian Legation at the Vatican.

Great Wealth Was Inherited By Prussian Girl From Famous Father.

Fraulein Antoinette Bertha Krupp is known across the world as the wealthiest woman of the time, and the conditions of her wealth are such that few women, even the historic queens, have been endowed with power comparable to that she wields over and by means of the great Krupp Steel Works at Essen.

When her father, the third of the male line, died, in November, 1902, he left a fortune of which the estimate of $150,000,000 is probably no exaggeration. Half of this, amounting to at least $75,000,000, representing the value of the Essen Steel Works and its supplementary properties, was bequeathed to his eldest daughter, Bertha. The second daughter, Barbara, and the widow were provided for from other sources.

Fraulein Bertha Krupp was born in 1888, and on her eighteenth birthday, March 28, 1904, she took up the actual and active management of her vast property, as was provided in her father's will.

From early childhood she had been, in the absence of a Krupp son, her father's confidante in the management, particularly of the various social branches of the steel works, in which she always took great interest and pride, while the works themselves were always an unsought burden to him.

On coming of age, she entered into her enormous possessions with enthusiasm and will. There is an extensive system of workmen's colonies, schools, hospitals, clubs, art galleries, markets, gardens, stores, baths and other establishments managed with mingled paternalism and co-operation.

Over this city of twenty-four thousand workmen and their families Fraulein Bertha Krupp reigns as supreme as a queen. The sixteen hundred furnaces and smithies are most famous for their guns, which are the basis of the artillery of Europe, but the young head of the Krupp house, who has been called "Our Lady of the Cannon," and sets more store by the other products of the works at Essen, Magdeburg, Annen, Kiel and elsewhere—machinery, railroads, ships and many various implements of peace.

Emeralds and diamonds have been obtained repeatedly at Villa Hugel, in Essen, the family mansion, on an eminence overlooking the steel works, and there many authors have sought the hand of Fraulein Bertha Krupp. In January, 1905, the board of directors of the Krupp works found it necessary to issue a denial of her engagement to Dr. Heck, of Rheinfelden, Prussia. Previous to that there was a rumor, before she became of age, that she was to be married to Herr Rudolph Teichmann.

FORTY-FIVE GIRLS IN GRADUATING CLASS

Dr. S. C. Mitchell Delivers Annual Address at Blackstone Institute.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BLACKSTONE, VA., June 3.—The commencement exercises of the Blackstone Female Institute are in full blast. The annual concert took place Friday morning, and consisted of a number of selections of vocal and instrumental music. The annual address, and an additional feature of a similar nature, occurred at night.

The address was delivered by Dr. S. C. Mitchell, of Richmond College. His subject was the South and Education. He discussed three striking phases of the subject: Economic Development, National Integration and Racial Adjustment. A delightful and elaborate program was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, humorous readings and several very entertaining original papers by members of the graduating class.

The most notable feature of this exercise were a paper entitled "Recommendations," read by Miss Sarah S. Howell, and the valedictory, by Miss Laura Lee Cannon, president of the class.

Several choruses and class songs were sung in a most impressive and thrilling manner. At the close of this program, diplomas and diplomas were given. There were forty-five in the graduating class.

A Timely Suggestion.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ASHLAND, VA., June 3.—Dr. E. W. Parker, of the Church of Latin in Randolph-Macon College, was surprised with a shower of rice by a large number of friends who gathered at the railroad station Friday night to bid him farewell on his departure for Europe for the summer. The conventional rice shower was given as a suggestion to him to return as a benefactor.

RISEING BREAST

And many other painful and serious ailments from which most mothers suffer, can be avoided by the use of "Mother's Friend." This great remedy is a God-send to women, carrying them through their most critical ordeal with safety and no pain. No woman who uses "Mother's Friend" need fear the suffering and danger incident to birth; for it robs the ordeal of its horror and insures safety to life of mother and child, and leaves her in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. The child is also healthy, strong and good natured. Our book "Motherhood," is worth its weight in gold to every woman, and will be sent free in plain envelope by addressing application to Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

THINGS THAT THE WORLD WILL BE DOING THIS WEEK

Long List of Important Matters Up For Consideration By Congress—Celebration of Wedding of King of Spain Continues—Other Matters.

The probabilities in the United States Senate this week include consideration of a number of appropriation bills and conference reports, the statehood question, the railroad rate bill, the subjects of the new construction act, the Panama Canal, the Isthmus of Panama, and the right of Senator Smoot to retain his seat in the Senate. The week's business will begin with the taking up of the conference report on the rate bill, and it will hold the favored position until disposed of.

After action on the rate bill preference will be given to appropriation bills, the naval bill coming first among these and the District of Columbia bill following it. Of the appropriation conference reports, that on the Indian bill will receive first consideration, with others following when ready to be presented.

Many Important Matters. The sea level canal bill will hold its place as the unfinished business, but it will continue to be jostled out of position by other measures enjoying higher privileges, under the rules of the Senate. The bill generally conceded that there shall be a vote on this measure before the final adjournment of the session, and with this assurance Senator Kittredge, who has charge of the bill, is content not to press unduly for its continued consideration.

He will, however, be prepared to proceed with it whenever the way is clear, and will demand a vote at the earliest practicable moment. There are many special bills to be made ready for consideration. Among the senators who are expected to speak on it are Messrs. Morgan, Millard, Spooner and Hopkins. The conference report on the statehood bill will be the subject of an animated discussion, but the belief is quite general that the report of the rate bill will be accepted after comparatively little controversy. Senator Foraker has already given notice of opposition to the report on the statehood bill, and he will have the support of several senators who eloped with him against the union of Arizona and New Mexico when the bill was originally before the Senate. They will make strenuous effort to have the bill returned to the conferees with instructions to stand for the Senate's position confining statehood legislation to the creation of one State of Oklahoma out of Oklahoma and Indian Territories.

The question of Senator Smoot's eligibility will be raised by the presentation of the report of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, but it is not probable that the subject will be taken up for discussion. It is possible that the consideration of the report of the Committee on Statehood might be postponed for a week or more. In executive session the Barnes case will follow the Wickersham case.

Week in the House. The programme for the week in the House of Representatives is as follows: The House will take up the bill for the relief of the King of Spain, and will then take up the bill for the relief of the King of Spain.

Other Events of Week. Emperor William is expected to reach Vienna Tuesday morning, and to the aged ruler, Francis Joseph, of Austria. There will follow several State banquets and entertainments in his honor. The American lawn tennis team of challengers for the Dwight Davis cup are scheduled to play the first of the international matches at Liverpool, England, to-day, and to meet the winners of the Australasian-Australian series on June 7th, 8th and 9th at Newport, Rhode Island. The international tennis match between the cup will be played on the courts at Wimbledon, London, June 15th, 16th and 17th.

The national convention of the Knights of Columbus will be held in New Haven, June 4-8. The American Medical Association will meet in Boston Tuesday, and continue in session until Friday.

FRANKLIN ACADEMY. Delivery of Medals and Diplomas to Fortunate Cadets. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FRANKLIN, VA., June 3.—The annual commencement exercises of the Franklin Military Academy began Friday, when Professor John B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest College, North Carolina, delivered the annual address before the student body.

Professor Hugh G. Nofflinger, principal of the Academy, introduced the speaker. Professor Carlyle's subject was, "The Man of the Hour." At the conclusion of his thrilling and long to be remembered address, Professor Carlyle was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses by that grand old man, Dr. J. D. Hufham.

On Friday night at eight o'clock medals were delivered and the declamation contest came off. The medals for first best and second best declamation were delivered by Rev. Mr. Bowden to Mr. Williams Cary Barker, he having won more points at the annual field day held some weeks back than any of the other cadets.

The scholarship medals were delivered by Hon. John C. Parker. Mr. Vaughan Camp, of Franklin, received the first, and Mr. Williams Cullen Bryant, of first, Southampton county, received the second medal.

The medal for the best essay was delivered to George W. Hayes, of Isle of Wight county. Dr. J. F. Bryant, president of the Board of Trustees, said that this had been the most successful year the academy had ever witnessed, and hoped for still better results next session. He also said that neither of the present instructors would be with the academy next year, each having been engaged to take a higher professorship in other schools.

Last of all came the delivery of the declamation medals. The judges were Rev. Mr. Bowden, Mr. Garrison Rawls and Mr. E. Frank Story. When Professor Nofflinger announced that the medal would be delivered, Mr. Bowden got up and stated that the judges came to the conclusion that Mr. Vaughan Camp, of Franklin, was entitled to the medal, but with honorable mention of the first declaimer, Mr. James T. Gillette. The medal was presented to Mr. Camp by Mr. E. Frank Story, which wound up the exercises.
